ABOUT ME

As a university student, I have been volunteering in many events which organized by different organizations. In my free time, I like doing research about technology and innovation as well as communication with new people and also try to challenge myself with something new. Based on my background, experiences in my field and ability to work within the competitive private sector has allowed me to share my enthusiasm and dedication with companies. Having many opportunities for exchange with professionals in the region has given me specific insight to the importance of effective. My English language skills allow me to understand international values and requirements for operations in key areas of development in Cambodia. I am seeking for a dynamic working environment with challenge to develop myself.
